Making Good.

There is no way of making lasting friends like "Making Good," and Doctor Pierce's medicine will exemplify this, and their friends, after more than two decades of popularity, are numbered by the hundreds of thousands. They have "made good" and they have not made drunkards.

A good, honest, square-deal medicine of known composition is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It still enjoys an immense sale, while most of the preparations that have come into prominence in the earlier period of its popularity have "gone by the board" and are never more heard of. There must be some reason for this long-time popularity and that is to be found in its superior merits. When once given a fair trial for weak stomach, or for liver and blood affections, its superior curative qualities are soon manifest; hence it has survived and grown in popular favor, while scores of less meritorious articles have suddenly faded into favor for a brief period and then been soon forgotten.

For a torpid liver with its attendant indigestion, dyspepsia, headache, perhaps dizziness, foul breath, nasty coated tongue, with bitter taste, loss of appetite, with distress after eating, nervousness and debility, nothing is so good as Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is an honest, square-deal medicine with all its ingredients printed on bottle-wrapper, no secret, no house-made humbug, therefore don't accept a substitute that the dealer may possibly make a little bigger profit. Insist on your right to have what you call for.

Don't buy Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription expecting it to prove a "cure-all." It is only advised for women's special ailments. It makes weak women strong and sick women well. Less advertised than some preparations sold for like purposes, its sterling curative virtues still maintain its position in the front ranks, where it stood over two decades ago. As an invigorating tonic and strengthening nerve tonic it is unequalled. It won't satisfy those who want "booster," for there is not a drop of alcohol in it.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets, the original Little Liver Pills, although the first pill of their kind in the market, still lead, and when once tried are ever afterwards in favor. Easy to take as candy—one to three a dose. Much imitated but never equalled.

AUTOMOBILIST KILLED.

Emanuel Cedrino, one of the world's most famous drivers of racing automobiles, was killed instantly on the Pimlico racetrack near Baltimore about 5:30 yesterday afternoon, while tuning up his Fiat-Cyclone car for the races that are to take place at the track this afternoon. While turning into the back straight of the track at a speed much greater than a mile a minute the right front wheel of the car is believed to have collapsed, and the big car, weighing probably nearly three tons, swirled half around, left the ground, turned a complete somersault and killed Cedrino instantly. The accident was witnessed by Dr. Herbert Schoenick, who witnessed the accident and rushed to his aid, said that Cedrino had died before his body and the car hit the ground at the aerial flight. The body was found near one of the posts supporting the fence around the outside of the track, and the jampled mass of steel and wood that had been the car was 20 feet farther along the track. Many of Cedrino's bones were broken.

For several feet along the track coins from the pockets of Cedrino were strewn which the witnesses take as a substantiation of their belief that the car revolved in the air, tearing away Cedrino's life before it hit the ground. When found the powerful machine was pointed in the opposite direction to that in which it had been going when the accident occurred. Cedrino's marvelous presence of mind in the face of instant death was mutely but eloquently shown by the fact that, in the very act of dying, he had turned off the gasoline, thus stopping the motor.

When the wheel collapsed the hub dug into the track for a distance of 100 feet before the conflict of forces sent the car spinning into space. The rim and huge pneumatic tire, torn loose from the machine vaulted the hedge and went with terrific force a distance of 300 yards to the high board fence surrounding the grounds. The rim and tire hit this fence so hard that it returned on the rebound about 100 yards. The spokes of the wheel were splintered into nothingness, and all the inanimate surroundings testified to the appalling force of the sudden stoppage of the three-ton racing car going at a record speed.

CORNER IN MAY CORN.

The "corner" in May corn, which has been run by James A. Patten, of Chicago, and his associates, came to an end yesterday, and the "Patten crowd" is generally credited with having made about $2,000,000 on the deal, although it is admitted that all estimates are largely guesswork. Mr. Patten personally declared yesterday that he did not know how much had been made.

The market yesterday was highly irregular and nervous in wheat, corn and oats. May wheat ranged between 106 and 111 and closed at 110. Corn sold anywhere between 77 and 82 and closed at 80 to 80. Oats ranged between 51 and 56 and closed at 52. Excite-ment ran high in all of the grain pits when the weakness was greatest. Values changed with such bewildering rapidity that traders were puzzled. Shorts were anxious to cover, and brokers for the bull leaders had, at times, plenty of grain to sell. It is said that the shorts have delivered to Mr. Patten and his friends not far from 5,000,000 bushels of corn and close to 8,800,000 bushels of oats.

The "corner" has been largely in May corn and Patten's holdings of his option were accumulated between 55 and 60 cents. Subsequent buying, necessary to support the market at critical periods, raised the average purchase price by about five cents a bushel. The deal began early in October, 1907. In that month May corn sold to 65 cents. The financial troubles which set in about that time tumbled the price to 53 cents. After the financial flurry had abated the price of May corn advanced slowly. During February it sold up to 62 cents and in March at 63 cents. Since then it has continued to climb and shorts have scoured the country for corn to deliver on their May contracts. Immense quantities of the grain have been delivered to Patten, but he has paid for it all and apparently stood ready at all times to take more. Early in May the shorts began desperate efforts to fill the Chicago elevators with corn and many of the western railroads issued "rush" orders to apply on all corn shipments. Despite this, however, Patten and his associates were not compelled to let go, nor was their hold on the market weakened to any apparent extent.

REFUSED TO SING ANTHEM.

The inquest into the murder of Mrs. James Creighton and her two daughters, native born Americans, and until a year ago residents of Port Huron, Mich., at Owen Sound, was held there yesterday. The husband and father, James Creighton, is held. It was brought out that on Victoria Day, May 24, the family went to church as usual, but the woman refused to join in singing "God Save the Queen." On the way home Creighton asked the women why they had refused to sing, and they replied they were citizens of the United States and would not sing the British national anthem. Creighton replied with an oath that he would have no one in his house who was not loyal to the British flag. It is thought this may have had some bearing on the tragedy that followed. Creighton says he kissed his wife good-bye, intending to end his own life only and what followed after that is a blank to him.
